

ANZ MoneyManager helps to make it obvious where you're spending your money.

Ever wonder where all your money went? ANZ MoneyManager can help show you. It's a whole new approach to money management. By connecting to over 9,000 financial institutions globally such as banks, mortgage lenders, credit unions and trading platforms, it retrieves and updates your data daily and displays it for you in one, secure place. With your financial information right there in front of you, you can see where and what you're spending your money on.

Budgeting

A few dollars here and there throughout the day can easily go unnoticed. But like they say, it all adds up. With ANZ MoneyManager you can see just how much you're spending on things like coffee, lunch, or weekend outings.

Set budget goals

ANZ MoneyManager can take the time out of budgeting. Just register and set up your accounts with ANZ MoneyManager, then every time you make a transaction it's automatically recorded and categorised for you - just like having your own bookkeeper. You can even set yourself a budget goal each month and have ANZ MoneyManager notify you when you're approaching your goal.

ANZ MoneyManager is highly automated, but you can also create your own spending categories to make sure you're tracking your spending the way that suits you. You can even go as far as to allocate your transactions to more than one category to make budgeting even easier and your spending habits more transparent.

Spending reports

Once you have your transactions categorised to suit you, use the spending reports to view how much you spend each month. The types of reports you can view are:

- Spending analysis which shows your income versus expenses
- Expense analysis which shows how much you are spending in each category
- A personalised report which allows you to customise your report so you can find out what you need to know
- Budget vs. actual spending which shows you how you're tracking against budget goals
- Credit card utilisation shows you how close you are to reaching your credit card limit

Set budget goals

Are you worried that you may be spending too much on something? ANZ MoneyManager lets you set yourself a budget goal each month and can help you stick to it simply allocate a monthly budget goal for each category. You can even ask ANZ MoneyManager to notify you when you're close to or over your allocated budget.

Sign up now

Alerts

With so many bills to pay throughout the month it can be difficult remembering which one to pay by when. Whilst ANZ MoneyManager can't get rid of the bills it can email an alert to let you know when they're due, potentially saving you from having to pay unnecessary late-fees.

Take some time out of managing your budget

ANZ MoneyManager can take some of the time out of budgeting, by allowing you to set up emailed alerts, which may reduce the time you need to spend adding up and comparing your spending against your budget or remembering when bills and loan payments are due.

Alerts can also be used to notify you when large deposits or withdrawals are made from your banking accounts and large amounts are charged to your credit cards.

You can get alerts emailed to you with details of your:

- General net worth
- Bills
- Banking
- Credit Cards
- Home loans
- Personal Loans
- Reward points usage
- Investments

Sign up now

Transaction History

ANZ MoneyManager keeps a complete and extensive transaction history from the day you join. So, if you ever need to check a purchase you made months or even years ago, it's only ever just a few clicks away.

You'll always know where your money went

ANZ MoneyManager keeps a full and extensive transaction history across all your aggregated accounts from the day you join, so you'll always have the information you need on hand.

Sign up now

Net Worth

Use the Net Worth Statement tool to view your assets and liabilities. This allows you to track your actual wealth over time.

Ever wanted to know how much you're really worth?

To get the most out of ANZ MoneyManager you need to include all your financial accounts, shares, assets and liabilities. Even non-financial assets like art, jewellery, musical instruments or antiques can be included. This will give you a more accurate view of your net worth and a clearer understanding of your current financial situation.

Sign up now

© Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited(ANZ)2008 ABN 11 005 357 522. ANZ's colour blue is a trade mark of ANZ.

Privacy Policy | Security Policy